KAREN FOLEY: The Student Hub Live online live and interactive event on the 1st of October will give Access students the chance to get set up for study and meet other students and members of their module team at the Open University. Studying is incredibly exciting, but it can be daunting, especially when you’re in unfamiliar territory. So at this induction event, we'll go through all of the basics and help you to prepare your learning space and mindset so that you're set up to begin your Access module in the way that works best for you.

Our team will introduce you to some of the ideas and systems you'll be using. And this is a great opportunity to have any questions answered as well as to meet students on the same course as you.

The event is online interactive and open to all of OU students. Find out more on our website, which is also where you log in to join the live events.

If you have a question you’d like to ask in advance, please just email it to us. And if you can't attend the live event, catch up later on our YouTube channel, where you'll be able to view the recording along with all of our other previous live sessions. But I hope you can join us on October the 1st.
